MELANCHOLY AFFAIR—DEATH FROM ASPHYMA.—A young man, about twenty-six years of age, named George Windhaus, met with a horrible death yesterday morning, at
No. 97 Clay-street, in the following manner:
A new vault had been dug by the side of an old one, and desiring to empty the latter he undertook to do it by cutting a passage from one to the other. While engaged at this he inhaled a portion of the impure air, and suddenly fell dead. Coroner Carey held an inquest upon the body, which resulted in a verdict of death from asphyxia. The unfortunate man, who would have been married this morning had he lived, was removed to his residence, on Green-street, from which place he will be interred to-day. BOARDING - Comfortable Booms for rent, newly papered, painted and furnished, with or without board, where only a few boarders are kept, at McKENZIE'S, 68 Sixth-st., between Walnut and Vine, HOUSE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.-During the HOUSE STRUCK BY LIGHTMING.—During the rain and thunder storm of yesterday evening, the residence of a German butcher, whose name we could not ascertain, located on the west side of Sycamore-street, between Woodward and Franklin, was struck by lightning. The electric fluid passed down the chimney, tore away the mantel-piece and a part of the floor in one of the rooms, but did no harm to any of the inmates.

Another.—The dwelling-bouse of a policeman named Feltman, on Franklin-street, between Main and Sycamore, was also struck by lightning during the storm of yesterday evening, but not materially damaged.

Since writing the above, we have learned the name—Reger—of the butcher above mentioned. In neither case was the injury to the buildings great, and a hundred dollars will repair all damage.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL EXHIBITION AND CONCERT.
The Raper Chapel Sunday-school will give an exhibition and concert to-morrow evening, at the church on Elm-street, near Findlay, the proceeds of which are to be devoted to refurnishing the library. The entertainment will consist of vocal and instrumental music, and eight Scriptural tableaux, as follows: "The Orphan's Consolation!" "The Vision of Bethel;" "The Withered Bud an Immortal Flower; "The Care of Adullum;" "Flowers from the Vale of Kedar," "The Death of Pharoah's Daughter;" "Alone, yet Not Alone," and "The Daughters of Jerusslem at the Rivers of Babylon."

PIRE'S OPERA-HOUSE.—So much has already been written and said about Advina Patti; the language has been so eften ramacked for adjactives and similes wherewith to express her qualities as an artisl and vocalist; the lovers of music have had their expectations elevated to such a degree by the encomiums of the Eastern press, which have been copied and read all over the country, that her advent in Cincinnati baseome to be regarded as an event, an era in the ansieal history of the city.

The world seem to believe the homely adage, "whiteverybody says must be true," and consequently, our efficiency having a desire to form an opinion for themselves in regard to this pet devotes of the Muse who presides over the lyric drama, yeared the second of the filterally besinged the ticket office of the Opera-house, and beinght matrix every seat in it.

The audience to-night will be brilliant, fashion, able and critical, and Patti, fully realizing what is expected of her, will undoubtedly execute her part of the programme in her best style.

NEWPORT NEWS.

DECISION IN THE WAGGONER CASE YESTERDAY—HASTY ACTION OF CENTAIN PATRIOTIC INDIVIDUALS.—Day before yesterday a habeas corpus was issued at the instance of James Waggoner to try the legality of his imprisonment, and the Messrs, Webster retained to prosecute the writ. It was made returrable before the County or Circuit Judge, but as neither of these officials could be present Mayor Hawkins acted in the case.

On behalf of Waggoner three witnesses were examined—John Whiteman, Eliza S. Whiteman, and Mary Miller—all of whom testified to having known both James Waggoner and his father, Peter, since 1852, and that they had resided in Ohio all that time as free men, and that where they were known DECISION IN THE WAGGONER CASE YESTERfree men, and that where they were known no one had any suspicion of their being

The affidavit of Joseph Thomas, a resident of Cincinnati, was read, in which he stated that James was in his employ about a year ago, and that his father, Peter, had come to see him at the time, and the parties recognized one another, as father and son. The affidavit of the old man was likewise read, but as the testimony of negroes is not legal evidence in Kentucky, it had no weight. He says that he was set free by the will of his master, whose name was Peter Waggoner, and who resided in Wythe County, Virginia, in 1828, and that he removed to Ohio in 1831; that James was born in Brown County, in that State, and that he had never been in Virginia.

Virginia.

The other party (?) had witnesses from Virginia, who stated that old Peter Waggoner had indeed been set free by a will of his master, in 1828, but that that will was annulled by a proper tribunal in 1843, teenty-five years afterward, though no record of that fact was produced, and of course it was treated, and of course it was the set of t produced, and of course it ought to have had no weight.

One of them said that he answered to a description of a negro who ran away from Jacob Waggoner some five years ago, (James was but fourteen years old then,) but he could not fully identify him, as he had never seen him. The other Virginian, however, told us (not on oath, of course) that Jacob Waggoner was too poor to own a negro. A statement was read from the alleged master, (the same who was too poor to own a negro, but without having been sworn to, in which he states that he lost a negro about one year ago, and gives this very luminous description of him, which, like political platforms and phrenological delineations, will admit of a very wide latitude of construction: "He is tal slime mad and has a grate kwantity of wite in his ize, and a downcast tuk."

No one denies but that James was born in Ohio; the Virginia witnesses did not know that he had ever been in that State; they had only heard that the will had been reversed, and that was the only testimony to prove that he was a slave, aside from his own admissions, and some vague descriptions of the country about Wytheville, Virginia, which he gave when first incarcerated. These are entirely incorrect, as he states that that town was but twenty miles from the mouth of the he gave when first incarcerated. These are entirely incorrect, as he states that that town was but twenty miles from the mouth of the Big Sandy, to which place he used to drive his master's team. The real distance is more than one hundred miles. He spoke of a river and mountain in the vicinity of his master's home, which are partly correct, but all the circumstances could easily have been gathered from his father and mother, who were wont to dwell with fondness upon the scenes of their childhood.

As to the admission that he was a slave, it was always done while in the presence of t was always done while in the presence of some of those interested in selling him. We have repeatedly heard him say he was a slave, in the presence of others, but when we had an opportunity to speak to him by himself he disavowed it, and said that it was through an opportunity to speak to him by himself he disavowed it, and said that it was through fear that if he asserted his freedom he would be carried off to the South immediately, by Stuart and his confederates—he not knowing the difference between a legal and an illegal detainer; and in the meantime, under cover of waiting for his master, he would endeavor to find his father. That he has made efforts of that kind, we know.

After a patient hearing of the testimony, both legal and illegal, the Mayor decided that he was a slave, positively refusing to grant further time in which to establish his freedom. He was then taken from the Courteedom. He was then taken from the Courthouse, put in a buggy by some patriotic gen-tlemen who had a contingent interest in the result, and hurried toward Alexandria, to result, and harried toward Alexandria, to have the sale take place immediately, as it was known that an injunction was sued out, and unless he was sold before the proper papers could reach the county-seat, he could not be sold until the final adjudication of his right to freedom. As such indecent haste was not expected by his attorneys, the party who was to serve the injunction did not start after the victorious party until it had gone three miles.

after the victorious party until it had gone three miles.

The Massrs. Webster have no motive in the matter but to see that justice is done; one is certainly a slaveholder himself, and probably the other. They have not been retained by any one but the negro, who is unable to pay them anything. They have spent money in his behalf, however, believing him to be free, and will do so again. One of them signed the bond to stay the sale.

signed the bond to stay the sale.

P. S. Soon after the party left for Alexandria, Col. Smalley mounted his fleetest horse, in order to urge the party forward, lest Mr. Webster overtook them with the injunction. When near Alexandria, he overtook the party, gave the Sheriff his horse, in order to let him go on ahead and be ready to sell him on his arrival.

The next excited at Alexandria inst three order to let him go on ahead and be ready to sell him on his arrival.

The party arrived at Alexandria just three minutes ahead of Webster, who saw them proceed to the Court-house, but on his arrival, it was found that the negro had been sold and secreted. No one saw him sold, as the law requires he should be; but Dr. Foster claimed to have purchased him for $700, giving his note for the amount, with a Mr. Nelson for security.

The question naturally occurs, why this haste? It he was a slave, it was unnecessary, as that fact could be established.

We can not but congratulate the parties having interests in the matter, in the shape of board-bills, rewards, &c.; or rather, we must commiserate them, as they may have some trouble in getting their money from either the purchaser or his indorser.

BILLIARD MATOR .-- A grand billiard match Billiard March.—A grand billiard match, of 500 points, was played at the Star Billiard Saloon yesterday. The contestants were Mr. Tieman, of Cincinnati, and Mr. Foley, of Detroit. Mr. Tieman beat his antagonist almost two to one. The final result stoot: Tieman, 604; Foley, 325. The best runs—Tieman, 150; Foley, 104.

COVINGTON NEWS.

Election of Bridge took place yesterday. All the old members were re-elected, except Mr. Caldwell, who declined to be a candidate. His place was supplied by Mr. N. B. Stephens, of Covington. The use tearnings of the Bridge during the year ending June 1, 1860, were $3,392 44, being again of about ten per cent, over last year. The new Board will organize next Monday.

LAW REPORT.

General Term.—Lange es. Gross & Districh. Judge Hoadley overrolled a demurrer to the petition—holding that there was a sufficient consideration for the contract sued on namely: that G. & D. would be responsible for two-thirds of any claim Werk might establish against Lange for violating an agreement not to embark in the star candle and stearin business for a certain time.

Walker's Heirs es. Walker's Excenters. Partitlen asked of certain premises now used by the executors of John Walker in carrying on the brewery business, also to appoint a receiver. Both motions were overruled by Judge Storer. The time specified in the will for the arrangement of the brewery by the executors terminates on the 21st of June; but the Court held they were authorized to remain in charge of the concern until there was time for the business to be wound up by a sale of the personal property.

was time for the business to be wound up by a sale of the personal property.

RULES FOR THE HOUSE OF REFUGE.—The Directors of the House of Refuge presented for the approval of the Court, certain rules and regulations.

Judge Hoadley stated that the Court approved of them, with the exception of one, which provided, "That applications for release of immates should be heard at the regular meetings in January, April and October, unless ordered by the Board of Directors." This was in conflict with the twentieth section of the act authorizing the establishing of Houses of Refuge, passed April 16, 1857.

Eastern Exchange continued firm and moderately active, at % and % prom. Soid very quiet at Massile, prem., and New Orleans Exchange nearly nominal at %69/4 fix., and parging prem. buying and soiling ratus.

No alteration occurred in Uncurrent Money nor in Tipue bills. Business in the Banking quarier was fair but mostly combed to applications for Honey, mand, Lew grades of superflue, made of Spring Wheel, and at $50 h. The framedicture in extra were confined to cop tries, in lots, as $5 mass; the latter for choice family. Whisky, owing to large receipts, declined &c. per gallon, and 1,400 bris soil at 17 and 174c. Provisions were very quiet, the demand having fallen off, and there were no transactions. Grocesies were standly in a regular way. Wheat, Corn. Bye and Barley, were firm and Oats dulf. Hay, Cheese, Butter and Folstons wore sure.

The imports and experts of various articles during the forty-cight hours ending yesterday noon, were Importally of the standard of the fact, and the sure of the sure of the forty-cight hours ending yesterday noon, were Importally of the fact, and the fact has a fact, and the fact, and the

At No. 10 East Fourth-street.

HAVING MADE USE OF VARIOUS Links of flowing Machines for several years. I found them all more or less imperfect in their construction. I, therefore, determined to purchase one of FINKLE & LYON'S make. I have been using it for a considerable time, and it affords no pieacure to acknowledge that I am highly pleased with it. The following are wome of the advantages which this Machine possesses over all others:

1. It expects with perfect ease and facility.

2. It causes but little noise.

3. It requires but little oil, and does not injure the material to be worked upon.

4. As the shuttle tune in a cradle, the Machine is provented from woaring out, and the thread kept reached the shuttle with confidence, recommend to all those who are in want of a dewing Machine, the FINKLE & LYON MACHINE as the very best the market, inasmuch as its construction is very simple, and its exterior very neet and elegant.
